The Green Man Takes to Local Airwaves to Demonstrate Eco-Friendliness!

MusEco Media and Education Project, a Billings-based educational non-profit organization focused on environmental sustainability, music, and Native American issues is excited to introduce The Green Man to local audiences. The Green Man is a loveable, comical character whose green living antics are featured locally and statewide on KTVQ television, the CW Network and Montana PBS.

The Green Man is seen in his series, Green Smarts with the Green Man. The minute-long program allows viewers a quick peek into the fun and foibles of living an environmentally sustainable life – or trying to, anyway!

Green Smarts with the Green Man is filmed in the Billings area. The episodes are produced by MusEco Media and Education Project (www.MusEco.org) in a sustainable, earth-friendly fashion! (MusEco is a two-time recipient of Montana's EcoStar award!)

In addition to the television series, The Green Man makes personal appearances at schools and public events by invitation, where he provides information and resources about living a sustainable life and answers pressing questions about green living and inevitably, his beard.

For more information about The Green Man, or to reach his "people," go to www.GreenManTV.org or use the contact information above.
